Board members
Anne Wildeman

Anne was a successful applicant at our recent board member recruitment campaign and following the AGM will be appointed as a board member co-optee.

Anne is really excited to be part of the regeneration aspirations, developing 250 homes per year and using modern methods of construction.

Anne's parents lived in Newport for a while and has family who live just outside the city. Anne appreciates that as a major employer, Newport City Homes is crucial to the economic future of the area. The regeneration which has taken place is already very impressive and with so much more planned believes it is essential that the resources are made available for key projects to go ahead whilst listening to the needs of the people who live there.

Anne has been an executive director of medium and large housing associations for the last 25 years and is a member of the Chartered Institute of Housing. Anne understands the way that associations work and has a lot of experience managing change and implementing the diversity agenda specifically within housing. Anne believes in lifelong learning and enabling people to be the best they can be.
