

Board members

Kevin Ward

Kevin has been a board member since 2017 and is currently in his second three year term of office. During that time Kevin has been vice chair of the remuneration committee and following this AGM will be appointed as the remuneration committee's chair.

Kevin believes his role as a board member is to ensure we continue to put our residents at the heart of everything we do by ensuring that people want to live in the communities for which we are responsible, whether that is in our existing homes or those being built as part of our ambitious development programme.

Following Kevin's appointment as chair of the remuneration committee, Kevin wants to ensure the association is an employer of choice who attracts and retains the best people by delivering the right package of rewards and benefits within the association's financial framework.

Not originally from Newport, Kevin has lived in Newport for 32 years and now considers it his home city. Kevin previously worked at the South Wales Argus for 27 years, the last four as Editor before setting up his own media and management consultancy business in 2017.

Kevin provides management and PR services to the Newport Now Business Improvement District (BID), and alongside his role with NCH, has voluntary board positions with Newport Live, Newport County AFC, Newport County AFC Supporters Trust, Newport Business Against Crime Partnership, and committee member of the City of Newport Business Club.

Kevin had a background in the media, has 20+ years senior management experience, has a master's degree in business administration and a successful track record in project and change management.
